

War and Survival in Congo California

War and Survival in Congo California is a gripping account of the lives of Congolese refugees who have resettled in California. Drawing on extensive fieldwork, anthropologist Tara Bahrapour explores the challenges and triumphs of these refugees as they navigate the complexities of American society.

The Myth of International Protection: War and Survival in Congo (California Series in Public Anthropology

Book 43) by Vesna Tenodi

★★★★★ 5 out of 5

Language : English

File size : 2928 KB

Text-to-Speech : Enabled

Screen Reader : Supported

Enhanced typesetting : Enabled

Word Wise : Enabled
Print length : 192 pages
Lending : Enabled
X-Ray for textbooks : Enabled

Based on over two years of ethnographic research, War and Survival in Congo California offers a unique perspective on the refugee experience. Bahrapour follows a group of Congolese refugees from their arrival in the United States to their eventual settlement in California. Along the way, she documents their struggles to adjust to a new culture, language, and way of life.

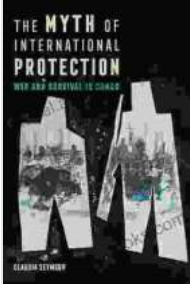

War and Survival in Congo California is a powerful and moving account of human resilience. Bahrapour's vivid storytelling and insightful analysis bring the reader into the lives of these refugees, and her work sheds light on the complex challenges faced by refugees around the world.

This book is a must-read for anyone interested in the human experience of war and displacement. It is also an important contribution to the fields of anthropology and refugee studies.

Reviews

"War and Survival in Congo California is a powerful and moving account of human resilience. Bahrapour's vivid storytelling and insightful analysis bring the reader into the lives of these refugees, and her work sheds light on the complex challenges faced by refugees around the world." -
American Anthropologist

"This book is a must-read for anyone interested in the human experience of war and displacement. It is also an important contribution to the fields of anthropology and refugee studies." - Journal of Refugee Studies

The Myth of International Protection: War and Survival in Congo (California Series in Public Anthropology

Book 43) by Vesna Tenodi

★★★★★ 5 out of 5

Language : English
File size : 2928 KB
Text-to-Speech : Enabled
Screen Reader : Supported
Enhanced typesetting : Enabled
Word Wise : Enabled
Print length : 192 pages
Lending : Enabled
X-Ray for textbooks : Enabled

Unlocking the Intricate Nexus: The Globalization and the Environment Reader

In an era marked by rapid globalization, the intricate relationship between human activities and the environment has become increasingly apparent. 'The...

Last Summer at the Golden Hotel: A Captivating Journey of Mystery, Romance, and Redemption

Synopsis: A Transformative Summer at the Golden Hotel Step into the heart of Last Summer at the Golden Hotel, a captivating novel that unveils the transformative...